KI have undertaken a total package installation in London at Kaplan, one of the world's leading providers of lifelong education with operations around the globe.

KI completed the four phases in Kaplan's listed building on a rapid programme, under difficult working conditions. Kaplan maintained their corporate image in the London college by supplying furniture from the KI Kaplan Standards programme developed in the USA. In conjunction with the architects, KKS Strategy, KI introduced new ranges and finishes into the scheme that had a more sympathetic approach to European aesthetics and tastes.

Louise Cook, Centre Director of Kaplan comments:

"KI's furniture has created a highly professional study environment for our classrooms and a fun and relaxing atmosphere for our student lounge. Students particularly value the flexible classroom chairs, which make sitting through a 3-hour lesson a much more comfortable experience. From the company's perspective, we needed furniture which would continue to look good after being used by a large number of students month after month, and KI's furniture fits the bill".

KI 700 Series lateral filing, pedestals and bookcase files have been installed in the reception area to contain the staffs' papers and documents. The slim drawers used are ideal for student records and the 700 Series files are compatible with all finishes and furnishings, reconfigure easily and promote user control. KI offer a variety of pre-figured files or tailored solutions for any office storage situation.

KI Kismet task chairs are used for the staff with swivel seat and adjustments for back height and seat depth, while a Kismet high-backed draughting stool is used for the receptionist.

Within the classrooms, KI Perry chairs were selected due to their unique frame articulation, stylish design, strength and variety of colours, from which Kaplan chose a dark blue. Perry is the perfect choice for Kaplan as the classrooms vary in size taking from 6-56 students with the subjects taught dictating different seating arrangements. Perry chairs are used with and without writing tablets classroom style. Modern, lightweight KI Venue B tables are used at random for more informal discussions. The Perry chairs can be stacked on a dolly for ease of handling.

KI Maestro chair, a contemporary, light and comfortable stacking chair, featuring a chrome-plated rod frame and dark polypropylene seat and backrest has been used in the Student Lounge area around KI Portico circular tables. Matching stools with polypropylene seats have been used for the higher tables and the computer bar.

KI In Tandem beam table system has been installed in the computer room. The power distribution is concealed tidily and can be easily accessed via flip-down doors in the front or back of this streamlined, contemporary looking table system.

The combination of the many educational products from KI helps to assist Kaplan to fulfil their mission to help individuals achieve their educational and career goals.
