

Customs & Excise

KI's commitment to value, quality and service encourages clients from both public and private sectors. The Customs and Excise Offices at Dorset House in London, with interiors designed by architects Brownson, Cross and Bradley-Hole, features KI's successful 700 Series lateral filing and storage system.

Finished in white, the KI units provide an elegant contrast to the strong primary colours which contribute accent notes to circulation routes.

The seamless construction of the KI cabinets allows the storage system to fulfil a secondary role as space dividers whilst allowing filing to be accessible to different clusters of workstations. The flexible modularity of the 700 Series system enables a wide variety of media to be filed or stored. Lever arch files, A4 and foolscap hanging folders are all accepted by the KI solution. KI's winning combination of design, economy and quality (backed by a lifetime guarantee) was judged by Customs and Excise to represent excellent value.
