

Flextech TV

"We needed a quality product, prompt delivery and value for money - and KI met our expectations"

Russell Sohngen - Allen Stewart Partnership

Consolidating KI's position as the premier supplier of creative storage solutions to the media sector, Flextech TV's new West End Headquarters is another demonstration of the power of flexible multi-media filing. Naturally, KI met the TV Company's expectations of quality product, prompt delivery and value for money, but also provided a very extensive menu of options in order to comply with the design scheme.

KI's flexible 700 Series system overcame challenges imposed by the building's bulkheads together with the need for clear, tight lines. Media companies such as Flextech require the filing system to manage a wide variety of items. KI's reconfigurable system allowed customisation to suit different materials such as A4 file pockets, foolscap lever arch files, disks and videos within a system approach.
