

Combining a striking use of colour with bold fresh ideas, James Lambert Architects' imaginative headquarters fit out for property investors J. Leon Group creates a unique synthesis. The design makes good use of KI's custom colour programme. 700 Series lateral filing and storage system units and pedestals are finished in stunning fuschia pink and white, whilst KI chairs are seen to good effect in matching fuschia pink wood stain and blue violet leather upholstery.

Used to store bulk filing, the 700 Series system was selected particularly because of the freedom to specify any finish as standard, as well as a competitive price. KI's seating is noted by James Lambert as being "good practical and flexible. We specified with and without arms, stained and upholstered and because it links and stacks. And a good price too!"

KI's ability to tailor the product to different environments is demonstrated well on the project. Scattered to form eye catching informal meeting groups, used as visitors chairs or more formally in the main meeting room.

KI worked closely with dealer Office Realisation on the project, to ensure critical deadlines were met.
