

"KI cabinets are sturdy and versatile, with quality superior to any comparable product available"
Donna Oliver - Latham & Watkins

For Latham & Watkins, one of the leading international law firms, with over 700 attorneys world-wide, KI's sturdy and versatile 700 Series cabinets were the clear choice. Indeed KI's quality was deemed to be "superior to any comparable product available".

Latham & Watkins, working closely with Studios Architecture, who designed and specified the new City of London offices, tested KI's renowned versatility to the full. Their filing method, in common with most US based legal practices, is based on special file pockets known as "red jackets". KI's modular system accepts these unusual items with ease - in addition to standard metric and foolscap media. Particular use was made of KI's useful "posting shelf" feature which allows staff to read or note documents whilst using the cabinet.

KI's ability to colour match (at no premium on cost or delivery) meant that Studios were able to specify Atlantis blue finishes to coordinate with the carpeting. Despite these various requirements Latham & Watkins secured KI's commitment to a tight fast track programme.

An important feature of KI's solution is the ability to match any colour in any quantity with no impact on leadtime, cost or continuity of supply.
