

Lehman Brothers

KI supplied over 5,000 units from the 700 Series lateral storage and filing range to Lehman Brothers in Canary Wharf. Specified by architects Swanke Hayden Connell, the project is an impressive illustration of KI's strengths as the world's leading provider of storage system solutions.

KI secured the major contract by producing both standard and tailored units within a system format, and by satisfying the Bank's stringent procurement protocols. This unique combination of a proactive approach to architect led design needs and the ability to meet the demands of major corporate buyers has made KI the leader in its field.

The 700 Series lateral storage and filing system offers an unrivalled range of sizes, modules and components to suit the vast majority of media. Lehman Brothers made full use of 700 Series' capabilities, as well as working with KI to produce a tailored narrow personal filer to maximise space utilisation. Additionally KI provided specially adapted units to help manage printer cables and mobile units for hot desking and touchdown areas.

The move to Canary Wharf from Broadgate enabled Lehman Brothers to review all its document and management needs. An exhaustive supplier analysis, detailed design input and an intensive tender process resulted in KI securing the contract to satisfy all of the Bank's lateral filing requirement from administrative areas to the dealer room.

Location	Canary Wharf
Architect	Swanke Hayden Connell
Product	700 Series Storage

WORKING
FOR YOU