

R. Griggs - Dr. Martens

KI lateral files have been installed at the prestigious new management offices in Wollaston, Northamptonshire of R. Griggs Group - manufacturers of the world famous Dr Martens Airwair footwear.

KI supplied their modular lateral files in a special silver flecked metallic paint finish to colour match with the interior detailing. KI's status as the world's leading specialist storage system manufacturer enables clients and specifiers to request particular finishes with no impact on leadtimes, and with no increase in price regardless of quantity.

R. Griggs is the largest manufacturer of waxed footwear in the UK, producing over 200,000 pairs weekly. The company's 95 year heritage has forged strong links with the local community. This is reflected in the office's design. Architects Haworth Tompkins' superb scheme blends traditional local materials such as sandstone and oak with contemporary finishes and modern services. Vertical surfaces in the office furniture, such as the desk legs and KI's lateral files, were required to colour match brushed steel glazed partition frames with a metallic finish.

R. Griggs are also impressed by the flexibility of the KI units. KI's modular incremental design allows R. Griggs to file a wide range of media within individual cabinets - specifically tailored to each user's needs. Tony Ross, Group Estates Manager notes "During our evaluation of storage systems it was immediately apparent that the KI lateral files met our requirements completely in both colour matching capability and flexibility to cope with a variety of filing methods - now and in the future".

KI also met the challenge presented by a particularly complex installation schedule by ensuring that delivery to the programme was complete and on time. Tony Ross observed "KI were proactive and committed to our completion date. I have been most impressed by the quality of their products and service.
